

For our team in Pfungstadt, we are looking for a Head of Consulting (m/f)

Your tasks

- planning and management of product rollouts with enterprise customers in close cooperation with Development and Sales
- managing schedule, scope and deliverables in software implementation projects
- ensuring successful product rollouts and customer satisfaction
- responsibility for consulting and support staff

Our expectations

- practical experience in project management or consulting
- analytical thinking and structured working methods
- professional appearance and representation of eperi
- optional skills, including:
 - basic technical understanding of enterprise architectures
 - practical experience with Salesforce, Office 365, Exchange, SharePoint or similar applications, e.g. a rollout
 - experience in support management
 - references of successful cooperation with agile development teams
- independent, responsible, solution-oriented
- commitment and a flexible team player attitude
- very good command of written and spoken German and English

We offer

- a permanent position and an attractive workplace in an innovative high-tech enterprise
- opportunity to contribute to a growing standard solution for the IT security market
- valuable domain knowledge in the IT security sector
- high-quality work tools like UHD monitors and ultrabooks
- free drinks, table soccer, cantina and parking
- a respectful and trustful office culture
- an attractive and competitive salary

About eperi

We are a leading provider of Cloud Data Protection solutions with 15 years of experience in data encryption for customer-specific web apps and leading SaaS applications like Salesforce and Office 365. Several hundred enterprise customers already secure their data with us. Our head office is located in Pfungstadt. Our London, Great Britain, branch operates since 2017. Our company is led by founder and CEO Elmar Eperiesi-Beck. With more than 30 employees (and several office dogs), we are a successful, steadily growing enterprise.

Contact

Does this sound exactly like the job made for you and your skills? Then feel free to contact us. Please send your application including your estimated starting date and salary to:

Sinah Karatas

Mail: jobs@eperi.de

Tel.: 06157-98950 00